NEW LEGISLATION

The following is a summary of law changes enacted during the 2023 California legislative session that affect several CDTFA special tax and fee programs. The changes described in this article are effective as noted.

Assembly Bill (AB) 28 (Stats. 2023, ch. 231) Beginning July 1, 2024, imposes an excise tax upon licensed firearm dealers, firearm manufacturers, and ammunition vendors at a rate of 11 percent of gross receipts from the retail sale in California of any firearm, firearm precursor part, or ammunition.

AB 935 (Stats. 2023, ch. 351) Beginning January 1, 2024, requires CDTFA to suspend or revoke a California cigarette and tobacco products retailer license on the licensee's third, fourth, and fifth violations of the flavored tobacco product ban along with assessing a $250 fine for each violation.

AB 1115 (Stats. 2023, ch. 561) Extends the sunset of certain provisions of the Barry Keene Underground Storage Tank Cleanup Trust Fund Act of 1989, including collection of the Underground Storage Tank Maintenance Fee at the rate of $0.020 per gallon, to January 1, 2036.

AB 1526 (Stats. 2023, ch. 848) Beginning January 1, 2024, makes various changes to the Public Resources Code, including changes to the Plastic Pollution Revenue and Packaging Producer Responsibility Act and authorizes CalRecycle to share information with CDTFA as necessary to administer and enforce the covered battery-embedded waste recycling fee.

Senate Bill (SB) 388 (Stats. 2023, ch. 214) Beginning January 1, 2024, requires that any information contained in beer manufacturer returns and supplemental schedules, except the name and address of a natural person, must be made public upon request. A taxpayer may elect to prohibit the disclosure of any information contained in their beer manufacturer return and schedules.

SB 797 (Stats. 2023, ch. 506) Beginning January 1, 2024, establishes the Lithium Extraction Tax Citizens Oversight Committee within CDTFA to ensure certain lithium extraction excise tax revenues are appropriately allocated and to make recommendations to improve community engagement and maximize community benefits.

SB 889 (Stats. 2023, ch. 511) Beginning January 1, 2024, makes various technical and noncontroversial changes to tax and fee provisions administered by CDTFA. The bill authorizes CDTFA to serve an Earnings Withholding Order for Taxes and related documents electronically; adds specific collection authority to the Fee Collection Procedures Law to hold a predecessor or successor liable for specified fees upon the transfer of a business; makes technical changes to the Cannabis Tax Law, Emergency Telephone Users Surcharge Act, and Hazardous Substances Tax Law; and adjusts the approval limits for small settlement cases from $5,000 to $11,500.

CANNABIS TAXES

District tax on retail sales and deliveries of cannabis or cannabis products

Generally, your retail sales of cannabis or cannabis products made over the counter at your cannabis business are subject to any district sales taxes imposed in the district where the cannabis business is located. If you also deliver cannabis or cannabis products to your retail customers using your own vehicle, you are generally required to collect, report, and pay any district tax in the district where you make the delivery. You are responsible for reporting and paying the district tax at the rate in effect in that district.

For more information, please see our publication 44, District Taxes (Sales and Use Taxes) and our Tax Guide for Cannabis Businesses under the Tax Facts tab.¹

New receipt requirements for cannabis retailers

Effective January 1, 2023, when making a retail sale of cannabis or cannabis products, cannabis retailers are required to provide their customers with an invoice, receipt, or other document that separately states the cannabis excise tax due.²

For more information, please see our Tax Guide for Cannabis Businesses under the Tax Facts tab.

Cannabis excise tax—Gross receipts

Your retail sales of cannabis or cannabis products are subject to the cannabis excise tax. The cannabis excise tax is currently 15 percent of the gross receipts of any retail sale of cannabis or cannabis products. Some points to note about the definition of gross receipts³ are:

- Gross receipts include all amounts received with respect to the sale, with no deduction for the cost of the materials used, labor or service cost, or any other expense of the retailer passed on to the customer, such as local cannabis business taxes imposed on retailers, unless there is a specific statutory exclusion.
- Gross receipts generally include delivery fees.
- Gross receipts subject to the cannabis excise tax do not include sales tax.
- Gross receipts subject to sales tax include the cannabis excise tax.

On December 15, 2023, cannabis excise tax emergency Regulation 3802 was adopted, which provides additional guidance on gross receipts from sales of cannabis and cannabis products. For the full text of this regulation, please see Regulation 3802 located on our website.

Refunds of excess tax or fee reimbursement

Excess Tax Reimbursement Defined

When an amount represented by a person to a customer as constituting reimbursement for taxes or fees is computed on an amount that is not taxable or exceeds the taxable amount and is actually paid by the customer to the person, that amount is excess tax reimbursement. Excess tax reimbursement is collected when:

- Reimbursement is computed on a transaction which is not subject to tax
- Reimbursement is computed on an amount in excess of the amount subject to tax
- Reimbursement is computed using a tax rate higher than the rate imposed by law

Whenever you have collected excess tax reimbursement, you will have to refund the excess collections to the customers from whom they were collected; otherwise, any excess tax or fee reimbursement must be paid to the state.

You should retain evidence of the refund to each customer by records which can be verified by audit, such as:

- Receipts or cancelled checks.
- Books of account showing that credit has been granted to the customer as an offset against an existing indebtedness owed by the customer to the person.

In the event of failure or refusal to make such refunds, we will make a determination against you for the amount of the excess tax reimbursement collected and not previously paid to the state, plus applicable interest and penalty.

Know your rights

As a taxpayer, you have many rights under the law, including the right to:

- Information and assistance to help you comply with the law
- Fair and courteous treatment and prompt service
- Confidentiality
- Appeal a determination or claim a refund as allowed by law

Along with those rights, you have responsibilities to:

- Stay informed about tax laws and regulations that affect your business
- Report and pay taxes and fees when due
- Promptly respond to our attempts to contact you
- Inform us of changes to your business ownership or address
- Maintain adequate records
